ADMINISTRATION, ENGAGEMENT, & SERVICE

PROFESSIONAL

Renaissance Society of America, 2007–11, 2014–present

- Interim Conference Chair, 2022–24
 - I was recruited for this position by the Nominations Committee of the RSA, an international professional organization with ~5,000 members and with a highly respected journal, Renaissance Quarterly
 - I am overseeing the 2023 RSA in-person conference for the first time in a site whose official languages are English and Spanish, San Juan, Puerto Rico, where I will use my leadership role to showcase the areas rich cultural resources and events to members, and foster dialogue with area scholars and communities
 - I am overseeing the 2024 RSA in-person conference to be held in Chicago, IL, where I will use my leadership role to showcase the cultural sites and professional networks internationally, as well as in the Midwestern region that I have cultivated given the site of my current Midwestern home institution

- My objective is to strengthen international professional networks and steward Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion (DEI) practices and approaches into institutional structures
- I have innovated “RSA Conference Chair Coffee Chats,” 2 gatherings during the lunch breaks at the March–April 2022 annual conference in Dublin, Ireland, welcoming conference participants to share with me their hopes, dreams, and brainstorming for the next annual conference. I will continue those in upcoming conferences
- I have innovated 2 “RSA Conference Chair Panels” at each conference based on input at the “Looking Forward” coffee-chats:
 - “RSA Conference Chair Panel I: Fellowships,” RSA23-SanJuan, with 1) Ashley Buchanan Associate Director Fellowships, Folger Institute, USA; 2) Kate Driscoll, Assistant Professor Romance Studies, Duke University Durham, USA; 3) Peter Burschell, Direktor, Herzog August Bibliothek; Germany; 4) Rebecca Fall, Program Manager, Newberry Library, USA
 - “RSA Conference Chair Panel II: Nuts and Bolts,” RSA23-SanJuan, with 1) Kristin Leaman, Humanities, Social Sciences, & Education Library, Purdue University, USA; 2) Kelly O’Reilly, Business Director, Milton’s Cottage Chalfont St. Giles, England; 3) Natalie Oeltjen, Assistant to the Director, Center for Renaissance and Reformation Studies, University of Toronto, Toronto, Canada; 4) Rubí Rodríguez Bustillo, Assistant Director of Operations & Sustainability, and Iraida Rodríguez-Negrón, Curator, Museo de Arte de Ponce Ponce, Puerto Rico
 - “RSA Conference Chair Panel I: Collaborating for Depth and Breadth,” RSA24-Chicago, with 1) Yale U’s Jessie Park (Assistant Curator of European Art) and Paola Bertucci (Associate Professor of History and History of Medicine) on co-curation 2) U of Chicago’s Timothy Harrison (Associate Professor of English) and Edgar Garcia (Associate Professor of English) on co-teaching and co-publishing 3) University of Chicago Press’s Abby Reeves (Marketing Manager) and TBA on journal and press publication
 - “RSA Conference Chair Panel II: Career Staging and Stages” RSA24-Chicago, with 1) Jyostna Singh (Professor, U of Michigan) and M. Elise Robbins (Ph.D. candidate, Ohio SU) on graduate student professionalization, 2) Associate Professors TBA, 3) U of Miami’s Mihoko Suzuki (Emerita) and Anne Cruz (Emerita) on emeritae/i stage
- I am collaborating in selecting future sites for the annual in-person conference, which usually has ~2,000 participants; and supporting the 2022 virtual-conference chair
- RSA Professional Development Discussion Group, 2020–21, 2018–19
 - I was an inaugural member of this group that then reimagined and expanded its reach for members to meet via Zoom, with the option of meeting in small or large groups
 - I have subsequently partnered with three members for publications and professional organization committee memberships
- RSA Diversity Grant selection committee, 2019–20, 2018–19
 - I was on the inaugural selection committee, after advocating for the need to counter professional systems that detract from diversity in research topics, world region partnerships, rank, race, institutional affiliations, ability, gender, and more

Milton Quarterly journal

- Editorial Board member, 2005–present

Milton Society of America \(MSA\), an Affiliate Organization of the Modern Language Association and RSA, ~450 members

- President and Renaissance Society of America Liaison, April 2020–April 2021
 - I selected the theme for the Society’s guaranteed panels at the 2021 MLA and RSA annual conferences
 - I recruited the visual artist Richard Kenton Webb and lead-coordinated the recording of Milton’s pastoral elegy Lycidas by 11 MSA Honored Scholars for the 2021 virtual annual meeting, which I emceed, including announcing publication prizes
- Vice President, January 2019–March 2020
- Treasurer, 2012–January 2019
 - I oversaw the finances, banking, and membership tracking for the Society
 - I resolved an IRS issue that I inherited, with no penalties, by demonstrating due diligence
 - I was the first to create and distribute the monthly digital newsletter
 - I co-implemented the innovation of commissioning an “artistic moment” for the annual meeting and dinner: in 2015, an operatic serenade, from 2016–20, poems by Henry Weinfeld, Tyehimba Jess, Linda Gregerson, Rosanna Warren, and Daisy Fried. I was also recruited behind the scenes to commission the 2023 poem by Urayoán Noel.

Purdue University – English Department

Interim Director, Creative Writing Program, May 2022–23

- I accepted the English Department Head’s invitation for this position, based upon the Creative Writing faculty’s unanimous backing upon the new mandate by the College of Liberal Arts (Dean that this administration position be filled by a non-Creative Writing faculty member. My main activities involve interfacing with Program’s 2022–23 core faculty (4) and contingent (3) faculty and graduate students (12) and undergraduate majors and minors (190) to assess and advocate for Program needs and aims in regular communications with English Department Head and Program Directors.
- MFA and undergraduate students. I am tasked with administrating the difficult phase-out of its MFA Program (est. 1987) and faculty restructuring, while still serving its roughly 200 undergraduate majors and minors.
 - Monthly Zoom- and hybrid-meetings of the 4-member MFA Leadership Team who hold RAships as Assistant Director, Visiting Writers Series Director, Sycamore Review Managing Editor, Sycamore Review Editor-in-Chief with an active agenda.
 - Regular communication. I send informative and community-building emails to the Creative Writing majors and minors, and separately the MFAs, roughly every two weeks.
- Coordinate course offerings, staffing, and quality of courses
- Faculty communication, coordination, and recruitment
 - Monthly Zoom- and hybrid-meetings of the 4 Core Faculty members with an active agenda
 - Recruit a 1-year Visiting Assistant Professor-Poetry. In Fall 2023, I successfully negotiated with the CLA Dean’s Office to approve this position, in order to steward the final cohort of MFA-Poetry graduate students in their final 2023–24 schoolyear. I further chaired the the screen-and-search committee.
 - In Summer 2022, I recruited and on-boarded 3 Limited Time Lecturers to teach undergraduate courses.
- Visiting Writers Series. Seek campus co-sponsors. Partner with the MFA graduate student/Visiting Writer Series Director to oversee travel and accommodations and honorariums of visiting creative writers with Business Office; in-depth MFA student interactions; publication of interviews and creative writing pieces in the Program’s literary journal Sycamore Review
- Sycamore Review. Steward the transferal of this literary journal / intellectual property to another university through my direct and indirect connections nationally among English departments and Creative Writing programs

- Selection Committee, Assistant Professor-Creative Writing, 2017–18
- English Department's Big Read
- Coordinator for "A Marathon Reading of The Odyssey," November 2019
 - Introducer for "Capstone Event: Emily Wilson" guest lecture, December 2019

Departmental assignments

- Literary Awards (2017), Teaching Awards Committee, Books & Coffee (2020–21, 2008–11), Job Market committee (2001–03), United Way representative (2007), Policy Committee (2014–15, 2004–6)
