

Lauren Cole

Bristol, UK / lauren.cole@bristol.ac.uk / @LaurenCole93 / medievallauren.wordpress.com

Research Interests

- Proactive MA graduate with six years' experience researching and studying 12th century visionary Hildegard of Bingen and an excellent grade record.
- Now interested in pursuing a PhD project exploring Hildegard's theology and medicine, and the converging influences of intellectual culture, medical cultures, and the lived experience of medical practice. I am also interested in gender and sexuality, the natural world and cosmology, and embodiment.
- Alongside full-time professional work as university staff I speak at conferences, participate in research projects, established and run an ecclesiastical Latin club, and regularly attend academic medieval events.

Education

History (MA), University of Bristol – Distinction

2016 - 2018

- Dissertation (87) on 'The Body of Salvation: The Material Presentation of Salvation in Hildegard of Bingen's Ordo virtutum', supervised by Dr Ian Wei
- Essays included 'The Cosmos, the Human, and the Heavenly Jerusalem: A Study in Hildegard of Bingen's Phenomenology' (90); 'An Exploration of Hildegard of Bingen's Symbolism in her Apocalyptic Woman' (85)
- Audited Latin A1 and A2
- Active member of the Centre for Medieval Studies, including organising annual conference

History (BA), University of Bristol – 2:1 (68)

2012 – 2016

- Dissertation (69) 'Hildegard of Bingen's Use of the Adam and Eve Motif in Scivias and Causae et curae: A Case Study in the Integration of her Spiritual and Temporal Thought', supervised by Dr Anke Holdenried
- Mytton scholarship recipient, awarded for academic excellence

Conference Papers

International Medieval Congress, Leeds

July 2020

- Funded – one of only 98 papers funded out of over 2000 total papers
- 20-minute paper: 'Who Is She?: Hildegard of Bingen's Apocalyptic Woman and the Crossed Boundaries of Women's Bodies' delivered virtually due to Covid-19

Centre for Medieval Studies Conference, University of Bristol

Feb 2020

- 20-minute paper: 'The Many Voices of Hildegard' comparing her construction of authority in theological work Scivias and the medical works Causae et curae and Physica

Centre for Medieval Studies Conference, University of Bristol

Feb 2019

- 20-minute paper on 'The Religious Significance of Food to Hildegard of Bingen' using medical work Causae et curae

Foreign Knowledge Conference, Ruhr-University Bochum, Germany

June 2018

- Fully funded to present at international workshop conference
- 90-minute workshop on 'The Female Orgasm as Foreign Knowledge: Hildegard of Bingen's Medical Theories' using theological work Scivias and medical works Causae et curae and Physica
- Summary published on H-Soz-Kult, German news platform in the academic history community

Conferences Organised

International Medieval Sermon Studies Symposium

May – Jul 2018

- Paid organiser with local organisers Carolyn Muessig and George Ferzoco, organised bilingual (English/French) symposium with 100 international delegates

Centre for Medieval Studies Conference, University of Bristol Jun 2017 – Feb 2018

- Developed a theme reflecting current interests within and outside of scholarship with appeal to a broad range of humanities subjects and international audiences: 'Hype, Transmission, and Truth in the Middle Ages'
- Personally bid successfully for over £1000 of funding from several departments and alumni

Research and Engagement Experience

Researcher, Churches Conservation Trust Jan 2020 – present

- Tackling Uncertainty across the Centuries: Medievals and Moderns in Conversation'
- Brigstow Institute funded project co-producing knowledge with local communities, with the aim of tackling social isolation in rural Somerset communities through redundant medieval churches
- Independent original research online during Covid-19, presenting the history of a medieval church in an engaging way through short audio clips

'Medieval Religious Women' article for Introducing Medieval Christianity July 2020

Researcher and Presenter, Downside Abbey 2018 - 2019

- Researched the transmission history and investigated palaeography of a 13th century copy of the Glossa ordinaria (Books of Solomon only) at Downside Abbey
- Presented research to 100 delegates during an exhibition of medieval artefacts
- Created public-facing codicological description for public exhibitions Voices from the Cloister and The Bibles of Downside Abbey, presenting elements with public appeal such as marginalia

Curating the Campus Internship, University of Bristol Special Collections Jul – Sept 2016

- Experienced using archives, including card catalogue system and handling documents
- Research used to create guide for Vote 100 portraits project celebrating centenary of women's right to vote

Skills

- Latin: experienced working with primary sources in Latin. Established a Latin Club using Collins' Ecclesiastical Latin 2019/20 and attended CMS Latin reading group 2018/19.
- French: academic working proficiency in reading and writing.
- German: beginner.
- Palaeography: experienced accurately transcribing Latin documents 12th – 15th centuries.

Funding Summary

- IMC Leeds 2020: one of only 98 speakers to receive funding out of over 2000
- Foreign Knowledge conference, Ruhr-University Bochum 2018: full funding
- CMS postgraduate conference 2018: personally raised £1000 from departments and alumni
- Mytton scholarship 2016: awarded for academic excellence in the Department of History

Memberships

- Mysticism and Lived Experience Network: attend fortnightly mysticism reading group
- University of Bristol Centre for Medieval Studies: attend fortnightly seminars and research conversations, and weekly social events
- Society for Medieval Feminist Scholarship

Current Employment

University of Bristol Careers Service Sept 2018 – present

- Started full time work immediately after handing in MA dissertation
- Awarded two promotions in under 18 months whilst maintaining language and palaeography skills, subject knowledge through attending seminars, and speaking at conferences
- Experienced teaching careers topics to students in lecture and seminar format and advising 1:1
- Responsible for student employability in the Faculty of Health Sciences (Medics, Dentists, Vets, Vet Nurses, Anatomists) and the School of Modern Languages