WORKING EXPERIENCE:

Notre Dame Institute of Education, Karachi, Pakistan

Dates: September 2005 – July 2013

Job Title: Coordinator Practicum, Coordinator Teaching of English unit and Continuous Professional Development Unit

I joined NDIE as English Curriculum Studies teacher (English Content and Method) and Curriculum & Instruction teacher to B.Ed/IGCE students. I taught English (Content and Method), Curriculum and Instruction.

I was also given the responsibility of organising Practicum (school teaching experience unit.) This involves contacting schools for placements, placing students in schools, liaison with the staff in student mentoring, working with the teachers teaching Classroom Teaching and Management unit. This unit prepares student teachers in their school teaching experience.

In 2011, I was also asked to take up the additional job of the Coordinator Continuous Professional Development Programme. My job was to find out from different stake holders their training and professional development needs and then plan, organise and sometimes facilitate workshops and short courses.

I have also taught Introduction to World Religions unit, a compulsory unit for all enrolled in B.Ed/IGCE programmes.

I was part of team that work on different projects under public-private partnership scheme. Following is the detail of the projects I have worked on.

PARTICIPATION IN EDUCATIONAL DEVELOPMENT PROGRAMMES:

Pre-STEP (Preservice Teacher Education in Pakistan,)

Type / Completed On: Professional / December 2012

I worked with the members of the Faculty of Education, University of Karachi and supported/assisted the Faculty members in designing the curriculum documents of the Contemporary Issues and Trends in Educational Settings and the Foundations of Education units of the four year BEd programme.

Pre-STEP (Preservice Teacher Education in Pakistan)

Type / Completed On: Professional / December 2010

I worked with the teachers of three Government Colleges of Elementary Teacher Education, (Hussainabad in Karachi, Talik Chari in Hyderabad and Mithi) , and supported/assisted them in understanding the Association Degree in Education (ADE) curriculum, conducted Active Learning workshops for the teachers and supported them in the Piloting part of this project. The purpose of these workshops and post workshop support was to develop the capacity of the existing faculty of the teacher education faculty of the teacher education colleges.

Benzair Bhutto Shaheed Youth Development Programme

Type / Completed On: Professional / July 2009

NDIE was also member of the consortium that worked on this project. The objective of this project was to equip the unemployed youth (secondary school, higher secondary school, graduate and postgraduate) with the teaching skills so that they can teach in primary and secondary schools.

NDIE was given the responsibility to design the pedagogy module for the Master Trainers and youth (trainee). Notre Dame was also responsible to teach it to 250 Master Trainers. The pedagogy module trained the Master Trainers in the classroom practices areas. I designed and taught the 'Understanding Learners and Learning' part of the pedagogy modules.

Education Sector Reform Assistance Programme

Type / Completed On: Professional / June 2008

I was part of NDIE team working on this project. My job was to visit the training centres and schools, collect data, evaluate it and submit reports to the provincial ESRA office. Notre Dame Institute of Education was member of the United Education Initiative consortium. The objective of this programme was to train about 17000 primary school teachers in the Sindh province. Notre Dame was responsible for the Sukkur, Thatta and Khairpur districts. My responsibilities were to collect data, analyse it and contribute in the quarterly, half yearly and annual reports. I joined Notre Dame when the project has already completed its first phase, that is, designing of the training modules and training of the Master Trainers. I also participated in the Extension phase of the same programme and this time I was also involved in designing of the data collection tools along with other jobs such as data collection, analysis and report writing.

Diocese of Raiwind Education Service, Lahore, Pakistan

Dates: January 2000 - September 2003

Job Title: In charge teacher training department

I joined the Diocese of Raiwind (a diocese of the Church of Pakistan a group of the major protestant churches in Pakistan) in January 2000. I started my career as a teacher and a teacher trainer under the supervision of a VSO volunteer. The volunteer left Pakistan after the September 2001 World Trade Centre incident. I was appointed as the In-charge of the teacher training department. My responsibilities included writing training manuals for the elementary school teachers, conducting training sessions and also working with the Diocese of Raiwind Education System's Coordinator in monitoring and evaluating the training programme, teachers and the performance of schools.

After the departure of the VSO volunteer I was also assigned the responsibility of writing the funding proposals (for the teacher training programme) and submitting progress reports to the donors. This did not happen quite often as progress reports were submitted quarterly. Most of my time here was spent writing training manuals and helping teachers to improve their classroom teaching skills and their content command in Mathematics, Science, English and Social Study subjects. I resigned and went to UK for further studies at the University of Leeds, Leeds, UK.

St Joseph School, Lahore, Pakistan

Dates: April 1994 - June 1998

Job Title: Teacher

My first full-time job was at St Joseph School (A school run by a community based organisation in Lahore.) I was asked to work there because the management believed that I understand their mission and vision. I started working at St Joseph as a volunteer teacher during my college years. I taught in their regular school teaching to children attending the morning school.

I also worked in the evening school as a volunteer. The evening school was run by the same organisation in the same school building. The evening school has boys working during the day in different shops and girls working with their mothers as domestic workers (house maids); thus contributing in the family income. I went to Karachi to study for my teaching qualification (B Ed) from Notre Dame Institute of Education.
