Research & Work Experience

March 2018 – September 2018: Guest Lecturer in Bielefeld University, IKG (Institute for Interdisciplinary Research on Conflict and Violence)

Sept. 2016 – January 2018: Assistant Professor in Kemerburgaz University, Department of Psychology

Oct. 2014 – October 2016: Affiliated PhD researcher in Center for Social and Cultural Psychology (University of Leuven).

Jan. 2010-Oct. 2014: Research Assistant in Center for Social and Cultural Psychology (University of Leuven) for Leuven Children of Immigrants Longitudinal Study (CILS) (Project principal investigator: Karen Phalet and co-investigator: Batja Mesquita). The project addresses one of the prime challenges of West European societies, the achievement gap between minority and non-minority youth and the ensuing unequal opportunities later in life. It brings together existing expertise of Leuven-based socio-cultural and developmental psychologists and sociologists around a new socio-cultural approach of school adjustment trajectories. Our main empirical objective is to launch large-scale state-of-the-art longitudinal, multi-levelled and cross-nationally comparative data infrastructure on differential school adjustment trajectories. The project will provide new scientific insights into the critical junctures and the micro-processes that underlie the achievement gap.

Nov. 2008-Dec. 2010: Project Assistant in COŞKUNÖZ HOLDING (The project is aimed to develop a detailed personnel selection system based on personality and skill testing for both blue and white collar workers in the Production and Maintenance Area. Responsibilities: Literature search, test and content development, documentation and reporting, data collection and analysis, coordination with engineers, coordination with advisors, time scheduling. Project Advisors: Prof. Canan Sümer – project coordinator, Prof. Nebi Sümer, Assoc. Prof. Belgin Ayvaşık, Prof. Nurhan Er, Assoc. Prof. Mine Mısırlısoy, & Assoc. Prof. Buğra Koku)

April-Nov. 2008: Research Assistant in Meteksan Sistem ve Bilgisayar Teknolojileri A.Ş. (The project was aimed to develop personality and fine motor ability tests for the selection of bomb-dismantling experts in General Directorate of Security Affairs. Responsibilities: Literature search, test and content development, documentation and reporting, data collection and analysis, coordination with engineers. Project Advisors: Prof. Nebi Sümer, Assoc. Prof. Belgin Ayvaşık, & Prof. Nurhan Er)

July 2008: Congress Volunteer (support for congress organizers) in XXIX. International Congress of Psychology

June-July 2007: Voluntary Research Assistant in “A Comparison Between Antisocial, Borderline and Psychopathic Personalities: Mediator Role of Big Five Personality Traits Between Family Environment and Coping Responses”. Project Conductor: Öznur Öncül, Thesis supervisor: Assoc. Prof. Tülin Gençöz.
