LLT 306: Methods for Adult ESL (English as a Second Language) Michigan State University

Fall 2019, Section 001
Class Schedule: Tues. & Thurs. 6:00-7:20 pm
Class Location: 211A Berkey Hall

Instructor: Dr. Paula Winke
Email: winke@msu.edu
Office: Wells Hall, B-252
Office Hours: Mondays, 1 PM to 2 PM; Fridays, 11 AM to noon

Course Description:

LLT 306 helps develop students' understanding of both past and current methodologies used for teaching English as a second/foreign language. In addition to understanding the history of language teaching methods, a large portion of the course will be devoted to exploring practical applications of these methods. LLT 306 is intended to prepare prospective language teachers to succeed in their future classrooms by equipping them with the necessary skills to design lesson plans, evaluate materials, and to think critically about how additional factors such as context, home-language background, age, and prior instruction may affect classroom language learning, teaching, and syllabus design.

Course Objectives (students will be able to):

- Provide an overview of past/current language teaching methods, especially those such as Communicative Language Teaching and Task-Based Language Teaching.
- Think critically about and create/design language instruction lesson plans and materials.
- Demonstrate knowledge of Second Language Acquisition (SLA) theory and methodology through the creation of a professional teaching philosophy statement.

Required Course Textbook:

More than a native speaker, by Don Snow and Maxi-Ann Campbell, 3rd Edition, TESOL Press.

Course Website:

- The website for this course is hosted through www.d2l.msu.edu
- Additional course readings, PowerPoints, assignments, discussion boards, and other materials will be posted on the D2L site
